

Workbreaker is a short-term work abroad program that blends leadership development and travel into one learning experience.

Participants have their own desk at our program office with 25-30 hours of individual work time between the hours of 9am – 6pm to manage work back at home.

Our carefully curated culture events allow you to discover a new city differently than the average tourist. From off-the-beaten path events to guided tours, you'll experience a personalized experience that will leave you feeling inspired.

Each program focuses on trends impacting multiple industries. Workshops, speaker series, and learning sessions are all designed to help participants lead through change and develop a different perspective to improve their business leadership.

YOU CAN EXPECT ME TO:

- Set aside time during the week to work remotely.
- Take plenty of notes and share what I've learned with you and the team.
- Connect with other professionals from diverse backgrounds.
- Become re-energized and inspired in a new work setting abroad.
- Be ready to take on a new perspective by experiencing a new culture.
- Discover ways we can transform our business and lead through change.
